

BRANCA CUVIER, AR.CO. CENTRO DE ART E COMM.VISUAL, PORTUGAL

Title: "White Faith" ring, Materials: Brass, Gold and Efa Plast Fimo Light. Price: € 400

This piece is an accessory to help me get the silence and serenity I need and then open myself into it. It is a relationship between me and my hand and some illusory space, where the unburdenings of my soul and doubts can be kept. I want to keep my faith to myself, though I would like everyone to have this type of faith. It is a non-metaphysical and simple faith, that's what inspired me to call this jewel "White Faith". The piece is meant for the hand because it is with hands that we create everything that becomes part of our lives and beliefs. The gold finger is evidence of the representation on the human body of the power that each person has inside them. The white capsule is wide and neutral so that nothing in it can interfere with my reflections. My faith is a very intimate thing, that's why this piece is turned to the inside of the hand, so that nobody can see my confessionary. This piece ought to be worn on the right hand with the white capsule turned to the inside of the hand, then you put your ear near it and listen to the essential silence you need to meditate. And when you're calm enough, you whisper your prayers and doubts to the inside where they can be kept.

"Parabolic Mirror", Sculpture Anish Kapoor